

Hong Kong, July 2021

'Top 50 Financial Institutions Recruiting' is published by a newly established Financial Talent Research Team under WILL-Foundation (www.willyouth.org), a financial community that connects institutions and talents.

These top 50 financial institutions are selected by our research team that set up by a group of current student interns from local academic institutions. After the statistical study of preferred companies of students at different universities and the research of job vacancies, the team integrated a list of the top 50 financial institutions recruiting under pandemic. This characteristic is crucial as this research focuses on the desired institutions of most students that are capable of providing vacancies to people in Hong Kong.

Source: Financial Talent Research Team

5 useful job-hunting channels are also provided for job hunters to find their jobs:

The Financial Talent Research Team has noticed that many jobs are still offered by big companies in the above job-hunting channels and career portals of different universities, indicating that not all posts are devastated by the pandemic. We hope that applicants can stay optimistic and try their best to secure opportunities.

William Kwok, founder of www.willyouth.org stated that the platform is constructive and meaningful to the talents who plan their career path in the financial market. His current task is to explore the financial support or sponsors to establish this financial community with offering more job coaching program and events to as much as talents. Eventually, both social and economic would be benefited.

For details about our research, please read: www.willyouth.org/research

Editor (Financial Talent Research Team) – in alpha order : (www.willyouth.org/about)

- 1) Chung, Allen – BA Art History & Chinese (HKU)
- 2) Lo, Samuel - Integrated Bach of Business Admin (CUHK)
- 3) Poon, Cyrus - BSc Econ & Fin (HKU)
- 4) Tsoi, Selina - BSc Econ & Finance (HKU)
- 5) Wong, Sophia - Bachelor Dental Surgery (HKU)