Hong Kong, August 2021

'Top 30 Biotechnology Companies Providing' is published by a newly established Financial Talent Research Team under WILL-Foundation (www.willyouth.com), a financial community that connects institutions and talents.

These top 30 biotechnology companies are selected by the financial talent research team set up by a group of current students interns from local academic institutions. 15 top biotechnology companies from overseas countries (USA, Japan, Germany, Denmark, etc) with offices in Hong Kong are selected. While the other half are top local biotechnology companies. This indicates clearly that Hong Kong is still full of desired biotech job opportunities. More essentially, job seekers can choose to explore their Biotech career with either a global or local vision.

Last but not least, the team has noticed that many jobs are still offered by the above-mentioned companies through job hunting channels like LinkedIn, glassdoor, etc. We hope that applicants can stay optimistic about the job market under the pandemic.

Willian Kwok, founder of www.willyouth.org stated that the platform is constructive and meaningful to the talents who plan their career path in the biotech sector. His current task is to explore financial support or sponsors to establish this financial community that offers more job coaching program and events to as much as talents. Eventually, both the society and the economy will benefit.
